1 hour, 2 hour or 3 hour workshops

$7 per person per hour (minimum $70 per hour)

The Practice of Theatre and Aging

The class will explore the history of the emerging international senior theatre movement from its beginnings in the post-World War II era to the present. It includes the application of studies in gerontology to the developing theory of senior theatre, and the growing literature of dramatic texts created for senior theatre from oral history, life narratives, and traditionally scripted drama.

Time Tapestry: Theater Lab for Seniors

This performance-based class includes activities in improvisation, storytelling, and personal monologue to share ideas that promote civic engagement and connect generations.

Reader's Theatre

Learn how to easily adapt poetry, stories, and plays with simple theatrical staging and script-in-hand performances. Workshops will emphasize performance skills and ensemble work.
